

Based on the model summary, average distance has a p-value of 0.196, and sampling effort has a p-value of 0.961, which means both variables were not statistically significant.